BUYING EMBRACES WIDE LIST

New Haven Turns Heavy on Profit Taking—New York Central Advances on Early Trading Demands.

New York, Oct. 23.—Stock prices continued to forge ahead at the opening of today's market, with buying orders scattered over a broad list of rail and industrial shares. Accumulation of the Oils influenced a further decrease in crude oil production.

U. S. Steel and General Electric moved counter to the general trend.

With professional traders directing their operations against short interests in special stocks, the general list strengthened on expanded trading, despite the development of a few weak spots. American Woolen was hammered down 2⅝ points to 51½ and Bethlehem Steel sank back to its 1924 low price of 37⅝. Railroad shares responded to the announcement that freight traffic for the second week in October was the heaviest of the year. High grade issues, especially, were in demand on a rising scale, New York Central advancing 1⅛ to 107. American Water Works 6 per cent preferred jumped 3 points and American Can, Pacific Oil, Houston Oil, Fleischmann and Goodyear preferred moved 1 to 2 points higher. General Electric recovered from its early heaviness. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

American Sugar Refining touched a new low at 35⅝ and American Beet Sugar duplicated its low of 36. The break in American Woolen extended to nearly 3⅛ points. The general list tended downward after the first batch of buying orders had been absorbed but steadied later when active accumulation of Lehigh Valley sent that stock up 1⅛ to 63⅝. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

Bullish outbursts in individual shares, Maxwell Motor A rising 3 to 64⅝ and Fleischmann 4 to 76⅞, both new high figures, tended to elevate prices further in the general list, although various railroad shares showed increasing heaviness, notably St. Louis-San Francisco, Wabash preferred A and Pittsburgh & West Virginia. General Asphalt, Woolworth, International Telephone & Telegraph, Postum Cereal, Coca Cola and Pacific Oil made rapid strides upward.

The closing was irregular. Copper refining stocks stiffened in the late dealings, American Smelting, U. S. Smelting and Federal Mining and Smelting preferred moving up a point or more. New Haven turned heavy on profit-taking.

Sales approximated 900,000 shares.

MRS. HEWITT ADDRESSES MEETING AT LOWVILLE

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.)

Lowville, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Nettie G. Hewitt, of Carthage, was the principal speaker at a meeting held at the court house here Wednesday afternoon. It was expected that Mrs. Daniel O'Day, chairman of the Women's Democratic state committee and of the Davis state campaign committee, would be present, but she was late in arriving at the meeting and did not deliver her scheduled address.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. J. Milligan, vice chairman of the county committee, who gave a talk to the women. Further meetings are expected to be held before election.

Wall Street Features

New York, Oct. 23.—Railroad freight traffic established another new high record for 1924 in the week ended Oct. 11, with total loadings of 1,088,462 cars, the American Railway Association reported. This was 1,015 more than the previous high record in the week of Sept. 27 and only 2,031 under the week of Sept. 9, 1923, the highest in history.

The Centrifugal Pipe Corporation, successor to the Centrifugal Cast Iron Pipe Company of New Jersey has declared an initial quarterly dividend of 37½ cents, payable Nov. 15 to stock of record Nov. 7.

A loan of $30,000,000 to Sweden is understood in Wall Street to be under negotiation with New York bankers which, it is said, may be the first large foreign financing to be undertaken in this market since the German loan.

Congoleum Company in the nine months ended Sept. 30, had net profit of $3,744,466, equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.80 a share on the common stock against $3,004,127 or $3.02 a share in the previous corresponding period.

Exports of silver in September aggregated $10,345,205, the largest total for any month this year. Excess of exports over imports for the month was $8,428,893. For the first nine months of 1924 exports exceeded imports by $24,140,612, reaching $79,744,974. Compared with the corresponding period of 1923 imports this year show an increase of $1,521,217 while exports gained $33,275,687.

American Bosch Magneto Company earned net profit of $125,293 in the nine months of 1924 equal to $1.30 a share on the no par value capital stock. Net loss of $51,587 was reported for the quarter ended Sept. 30.

While stock market observers seemed unable to agree on the reason for the recent rise in prices, and still differ in their predictions as to the future trend, there is a wide unanimity of opinion that the markets of the immediate future are likely to be highly selected. The current upswing is explained in some quarters as a correction of an oversold condition resulting from recent "election scares" and in others as a discounting of election results and improvement in fall business. Poor trade conditions are expected to retard the recovery of the textile, sugar and copper shares, but barring unexpected developments, a more hopeful feeling exists regarding the oils, due to the marked improvement in trade conditions, and the rails which are reaping the benefit of heavy traffic, reduced operating expenses and the possible elimination of waste and overhead through mergers.

BLAMES G. O. P. FOR RADICALS

DAVIS SAYS LAST ADMINISTRATION IS CAUSE

REPLIES TO WEEKS' ADDRESS

Declares He Is "One of Still Unmuzzled" Members of the Cabinet—Offers "Sane Progressive Liberalism" As Cure For "Country's Ill."

Aboard Davis Train En Route to Cleveland, Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 23.—With but one more formal address—that scheduled for Cleveland tonight—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president, was on his way east today, completing the last leg of his two weeks' final campaign drive in the middle west.

The train passed out of Indiana early today headed for Cleveland and thence on to New York where the final drive of the candidate's personal campaign will be started Saturday.

Mr. Davis put the finishing touches on his Indiana tour last night at Evansville, after speaking earlier in the day at Vincennes and Princeton.

In Evansville he replied to Secretary of War Weeks' address in New York Tuesday evening, characterizing the war secretary as "one of the still unmuzzled" members of the cabinet. In Vincennes, Mr. Davis charged that the "three and one half years of power by the Harding-Coolidge administration have produced this radical third party of which they complain."

The "radicals," Mr. Davis said, had aroused the American people and offered "strange doctrines, urging them on the people as the cure for all their ills."

It was in this connection that the candidate asked:

"Will you seek to cure the patient by giving him an injection of the same virus that produced his disease or accept the relief I offer—a sane, forward-looking and progressive liberalism that knows no class or section?"

GRAND REGENT PRAISES LODGE

VISITS WATERTOWN COUNCIL OF ROYAL ARCANUM

COMMENDS DEGREE TEAM DRILL

Accompanied by Staff of Officers Milton A. Williment Inspects Local Organization and Picks It As One of the Best in the State.

Grand regent of New York state, Milton A. Williment and his staff, including the vice grand regent, Judge W. W. Byam, of Rome, and Supreme Representative William E. Green of Utica paid an official visit to the Watertown Council of the Royal Arcanum Wednesday night.

A dinner was given at the Woodruff hotel at 7 in honor of the grand officers of the lodge. About 40 of the local members attended.

In the evening, there was a regular meeting of the lodge at the Odd Fellows temple. Visiting brothers from Oneida, Rome and Utica were present. There were several interesting addresses by the grand officers. The Watertown council degree team put on several of their drills, under the direction of George I. Baker, drill master. Their work was highly commended by the grand regent, who said that the Watertown degree team was the best he had seen in this state.

He explained plans for a degree team contest to be held next June at the supreme council session, in which all degree teams of the Royal Arcanum lodges of the state are expected to participate. The first prize in this contest will be $500 and several smaller prizes will be offered. The rating will be based on marches and drills, which will count 80 points and 20 points will be allowed for the best uniforms.

Grand regent Williment also stated that he had not seen any drill uniforms anywhere in the state that could compare with those of the Watertown council in excellence. He said that there were only three other degree teams in New York state that could compare with the Watertown degree team in perfection, and he believed the local outfit was about the best.

Grand regent Milton A. Williment staff consisted of vice grand regent, W. W. Byam, supreme representative, William E. Green; alternate supreme representative, H. M. Darby of Watertown and district deputy grand regent, George I. Baker of Watertown.

Following the meeting there was a social session with refreshments and entertainment.

RAW SUGAR MARKET.

New York, Oct. 23.—The raw sugar market today was unchanged at $4.83 for Cuban duty paid. No sales were reported to local refiners, but outport refiners late yesterday, paid $4.95 for 25,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment.

Raw sugar futures were irregular. December contracts at midday were 2 points net higher on buying by Cuban interests while later deliveries were unchanged to 2 points net lower on European selling.

Refined sugar was unchanged at $7.13 to $1.60 for fine granulated.

Refined futures were nominal—

WILL CALL STATE G. O. P. CHAIRMEN

BORAH TO GRANT UNTERMYER'S REQUEST

TO BE QUIZZED ON CONTRIBUTIONS

Absence of Names of Prominent Capitalists From Republican Contribution Lists Results in Call For New York, New Jersey and Other State Committee Chairmen.

Washington, Oct. 23.—With a view to determining whether there have been "concealed" contributions from big business men to the Republican campaign fund, Samuel Untermyer asked the senate investigating committee today to subpoena the Republican state chairmen of New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Illinois.

Mr. Untermyer, who is associate counsel for Senator La Follette, said it was strange that there were missing from the official Republican lists the names of such men as Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, J. P. Morgan, the Rockefellers, and officers "of the great Standard Oil interests," all "recognized Republicans."

Chairman Borah of the committee announced that the request would be granted and the state chairmen named would be called to Washington.

Mr. Untermyer also submitted a telegram from Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, saying it was rumored that $100,000 would be sent to Montana to be used against him in his campaign for reelection.

When Mr. Untermyer called attention to the absence of the names of a number of capitalists from the list of Republican contributors, Senator Borah remarked:

"I am mighty glad their names are missing."

"If they are really missing," interjected Untermyer.

"We will try to find that out," replied Senator Borah.

Fred N. Shepherd, executive manager of the American Bankers' Association, was the first witness at today's session.

NON-SUIT MOTION STILL UNDECIDED

After arguing a motion for non-suit for two hours and a half in the case of Captain Ira Cuppernall against Dr. George H. Stephens, in a $20,000 malicious practice action in supreme court, it was still undecided at 3:30 this afternoon.

Late this forenoon at the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence, a motion for non-suit was made by Attorney Delos M. Cosgrove of counsel for the defendant. The motion was made on the ground that County Judge J. Frank LaRue who issued the search warrant for the search of Captain Cuppernall's premises and later after hearing the evidence, vacated the search warrant and ordered the return of the mahogany lumber and electric drill taken away by the plaintiff, was without jurisdiction under the law to vacate the search warrant and direct the return of the property. It was also made on the further grounds that the defendant had probable cause to procure the search warrant.

The motion was the subject of long argument which lasted until 12:45. It was opposed by Attorney Nathaniel F. Breen counsel for the plaintiff, who pointed out that any court had a right to correct an error once discovered and that if a search warrant were procured on a false affidavit, the court issuing such warrant had a right to vacate it when he found that the affidavit was false.

He declared that in the event Judge LaRue did not have jurisdiction in the matter or in the event that the defendant believed that he did not have jurisdiction, he should have taken an appeal. He pointed out that no appearance was ever taken, although the order was made more than a year ago, and that therefore the order was a final determination of the search warrant proceeding.

Justice Smith dismissed the motion as to jurisdiction of Judge LaRue and held his decision on the question of probable cause until this afternoon.

Wednesday afternoon newspaper clippings of accounts of the proceedings before Judge LaRue last May to have the search warrant recated, were offered in evidence by Attorney Breen in behalf of the plaintiff, to show that the defendant had accused the plaintiff of having stolen the lumber and other materials and to the general tenor of the proceeding. The court refused to permit them read at the time. This morning they were offered again by Attorney Breen after Justice Smith had read them carefully and they were admitted in their entirety under the objection of counsel for the defense. Justice Smith offered to rule out impertinent portions of them provided counsel for both sides could agree which parts should be offered. The defense refused to agree to that plan. The court said that he thought the accounts were fair representations of the proceedings.

One of the last witnesses for the plaintiff was Attorney George E. Morse of Clayton, attorney for the plaintiff. Mr. Morse testified that prior to the proceedings in May Captain Cuppernall gave him a diary of the year 1922 containing entries about the alleged gift of the mahogany, cedar and electric drill to him by Dr. Stephens. Some of those entries he said had been copied off onto a sheet of paper, which had been used by Captain Cuppernall at the proceedings to refresh his recollection. The witness said, however, that the diary and some letters which were not admitted into evidence at that time, had been lost and although he had made diligent search because the diary was important to the case, he had yet been unable to find it.

PICKARD DEFINES COMMUNITY IDEA

PASTOR SPEAKS AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

FLAYS RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY

Points Out Factors Which Threaten Community Idea—Calls the Nation a True Community.

Before a large meeting of the Kiwanis club this noon Dr. Darwin F. Pickard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke on the Community Idea. He explained what composed a ideal community and how the community idea was growing throughout the nation and how eventually it would become international in its scope.

"It is difficult to answer the question, What is a Community," said Dr. Pickard. "A friend of mine who is a minister and lives in a small place outside of New York told me that he would like to get another pulpit. I asked him why and he said that practically all of the men who lived in the village where he did were millionaires. They all went to town at the same time, came home at the same time, dressed for dinner and lived pretty much alike. It is not necessary for persons to live alike and act alike to make a community. I know a place in central New York where a large group of people live alike, eat alike, dress alike. That is Auburn prison. But it does not make a community. I want to tell you that sameness or variety does not make a community.

"A local community is composed of all kinds of people. Protestants, Catholics, Jews, rich, poor, employers and employees. It is a wonderful variety all bound together by community ideas, law and order. Some so-called communities are not communities because they are split and pulling against each other. There are towns and cities that are not progressive because they lack community spirit. They are not in the real sense of the word a community.

"We next find the community idea expanding into the nation. The United States of America is a true community. We express community ideal, a oneness and common ideas.

"The community idea is threatened in four ways, in the first place it is threatened by the great extent of our country. When Thomas Jefferson wanted to purchase Louisiana, many persons and influential statesmen of the day wanted the idea given up. They thought the nation would crumpel to pieces if they tried to spread themselves over such a large area. But the men of that day did not know of the inventions that would be discovered to hold this country together.

"Then there was the economic struggle between two groups. Those who wanted every man free. The other group wanted to keep men in bondage and not owners of their persons or their labors.

"More recently two questions have come before the people. There are people coming through our ports by the thousands and thousands. Many thought they would form groups and not work into our community life. They come, however, and are assimilated into our national life and show the oneness that helps made an ideal nation.

"The last thing is religious prejudices. We should not have any such trouble in this country. I do not think that any such movement will live here. I am strongly against any such movement. Recently in Utica a Hamilton-Jefferson organization was started for the purpose of bringing all creeds closer together and helping to make a better community.

"I would like to say also a word about the application of the community idea in a large sense. We have applied it to the town and nation and now I will speak of the world. The idea has not come yet but we are all looking forward to it before long. I do not mean that it should take the place of our national life or cause us to lose our patriotism but it should instill a community spirit into all mankind. This, however, is not quite realized but it will be before many years. Then we will have the community ideal in international affairs. The separate groups will be bound together for common purposes and common ideals."

HAS HICCOUGHS FOR FOUR DAYS

An attack of hiccoughs which lasted continually for four days was the unusual and painful experience of Edward Bellville who conducts a barber shop in the new Chamber of Commerce building.

Bellville began to hiccough last Sunday afternoon and he continued to do so until Wednesday afternoon, when he was cured by chiropractic treatments, according to a statement made by barbers in the Bellville shop this afternoon.

Mr. Bellville is not yet at the shop in the chamber of commerce building, but he is expected to return late today. The barbers in charge of the shop this afternoon stated that Mr. Bellville was stricken with the attack of hiccoughs Sunday and as the attack continued it became more severe and came in rapid succession. He tried to stop the attack by using several remedies and by following the advice of physicians, but little success was obtained. He received treatments from a local chiropractor Tuesday afternoon and the hiccoughs stopped temporarily, and other treatments effected a permanent cure. The attack was not finally stopped until Wednesday afternoon.

SYNOD APPROVES THREE LICENSES

DISPELS CLOUD HOVERING OVER PRESBYTERIANS

PRESBYTERIANS WERE CRITICIZED

Manner in Which Applicants For License Had Answered Questions Regarding Origin of Jesus Cause For Complaint.

Cortland, Oct. 23.—The 42nd annual Presbyterian synod of New York prepared for its closing meetings today, freed from the threatening cloud of a fundamentalist modernist controversy which hung over it for a time during the first two days of the session.

After the delegates had disapproved complaints made against certain applicants for the Presbyterian ministry because of the manner in which questions on their examination had been answered, Rev. William E. Barton, former moderator of the national council of Congregational churches in America, in an address at night, asserted that he failed to see "any question separating the fundamentalist from the modernist that is vital to faith."

"Of all modern controversies," Dr. Barton declared, "it may be said that they relate to matters in which Jesus appeared to have no interest. The most serious questions are those that threaten to cut across denominational lines. Christianity is not a study of origins. Faith deals with God and Christ and human life as they are; questions of origin belong not to religion but to archaeology."

The controversy which interested the first two sessions of the synod centered about the licensing of Rev. Henry P. VanDusen and Rev. Cedric O. Lehmen, New York clergymen, by the New York Presbytery, and of Rev. J. Blakeslee Lyon of McGraw by the Binghamton Presbytery. Both of the Presbyteries were charged in the complaints with having acted wrongly in issuing the licenses.

In the case of both of the New York city applicants, it developed that both had refused in their examinations to affirm or deny the Virgin birth of Jesus Christ, declaring that the answer to this question was not essential to their faith. Both did affirm that they believed in the deity of Christ.

Complaints in both cases were directed at the Presbyteries in which the examination had been taken rather than against the applicants. This was emphasized at yesterday's session in order to offset rumors that a "heresy trial" might develop. Officials of the synod pointed out that there were no principles of heresy involved, and that the cases rested merely upon the action of the Presbyteries in approving examinations in which fundamentalists in the denomination were able to find defects.

The important feature of the charge in Lyon's case, was that the Binghamton Presbytery, "failed and neglected to examine J. Blakeslee Lyon, respecting his experimental acquaintance with the religion and the motive which influenced him to desire the sacred office."

The complaint reproduced several of Lyons' answers, adverse comment being drawn especially to his reply of "Joseph" to the question, "Who was the father of Jesus?"

Dismissal of complaint in the Lyon case was based upon the contention that the Binghamton Presbytery had failed to observe the proper degree of thoroughness in conducting the examination, and that there could be found no precedents in the law of the church which would allow Lyons' license to preach to be annulled; a request which had been made in the complaint.

Licensing of the New York clergymen was upheld on the ground that the general assembly of the Presbyterian church several times had recognized "the constitutional right of Presbyteries in the matter of licensing candidates for the ministry."

SMALL BLAZE AT COURT ST. STORE

A carelessly dropped match, cigarette or cigar stub is believed responsible by Fire Chief William E. Gaffney for fire that broke out between the ceiling of the first floor and floor of the second story of the Household Furnishing company, 320 Court street, shortly after 1 this afternoon.

Sandor S. Bano, member of the firm, was showing goods to a woman customer in the rear of the store when he noticed smoke coming from the second floor. Investigation revealed fire in a lavatory on the second floor. A telephone alarm to department headquarters led to box No. 42, Court and Jackman streets, being rung to call out four companies.

When the firemen arrived the fire was burning briskly and had broke out scorching the walls of the lavatory. Chemicals were used effectively and the blaze quickly extinguished. To reach the seat of the fire it was necessary to cut small holes in the floor and pull off two squares of the steel ceiling.

A small opening around a water pipe led Chief Gaffney to the conclusion that fire dropped there had caused the blaze. Although much smoke was generated, no damage was done to the stock for the store was quickly ventilated.

Brick fire walls on two sides of the fire prevented its spreading out. The store is located in the old Crowner hotel building. The alarm that brought Chief Gaffney and his men to the scene also caused an unexpected inspection that resulted in Chief Gaffney issuing orders to Bano to clean up rubbish at the back of his store. As he was leaving the scene Chief Gaffney noticed a big pile of paper and excelsior at the rear of the store and beneath bedroom windows of the hotel. He ordered the merchant to get rid of it and keep the yard clean of such rubbish in the future.

CHARGE THEFT OF COPPER WIRE

Adelbert Chapin, 41, and John Gilbo, 56, both well known police court habitues of this city, are being held at the city hall today on an open charge as a result of their efforts to sell more than 300 pounds of copper cable wire, owned by the Northern New York Utilities, Inc., to the Great Northern Junk company, 430-32-34 Court street, this morning.

The two were placed under arrest by Detective Samuel Roberts and Patrolman A. J. Knight in Factory street following an investigation made this morning by Motorcycle Patrolman Harold J. Curtis. Both admit that they had possession of the wire and had left it at the junk company but Chapin says that he found it just outside of the city limits. This afternoon Henry J. McCormick of the Utilities, Inc., swore out a warrant for their arrest, charging petit larceny.

This morning information was received at headquarters to the effect that two men, both in a slightly drunken condition, tried to sell the wire to the Watertown Paper Stock company, 523 Leray street. The officials of the company refused to buy the wire and the two men took it to the other company. Motorcycle Patrolman Curtis obtained a description of the men, which answered to that of Chapin and Gilbo. The wire is valued at nearly $30.

TO ENLARGE HOTEL FRONT ENTRANCE

PROVIDE STAIRWAY TO CAFETERIA ON LOWER FLOOR

TO BEGIN WORK SOON

Equipment For Cafeteria at Hotel Woodruff Already Here, According to James E. Knott, Who Is Here Today.

The new Hotel Woodruff cafeteria which is to be installed immediately will be located in the room directly under the lobby and until a few days ago occupied by Wood's billiard parlor.

Entrance to the cafeteria will be made both from the hotel lobby and from the arcade which connects Terminal place with Public Square.

A new entrance with a stairway to the lower floor will be placed in the present entrance of the hotel, the revolving door being removed and the entire entrance enlarged, according to James E. Knott, of New York, one of the members of the firm Knott brothers, now operating the hotel.

Mr. Knott arrived in Watertown this morning to look over the situation. "We will be ready to open the new cafeteria in about two months," he said. "We have a carload of equipment here now and will start work at once for the sooner we can complete it the better we will like it."

"The cafeteria will have a seating capacity of about 190 but as people are constantly coming and going we will be able to handle many more than that. We intend to make it an institution for the city of Watertown and will conduct regular cafeteria service. It will be operated from our main kitchen but there will be a sub-kitchen in connection with the cafeteria. We will have to lay a new floor, and put up a couple of partitions and install our equipment including dish washing machines and the like.

"Our plan is to have prices which will attract people and at the same time we plan to give good service. We do not expect that it will effect our regular dining room service."

TROOPERS ACT ON TIP, ARREST TWO

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.)

Lowville, Oct. 23.—Arthur Cristal of Utica and Harry Burdick of Ilion were arrested by State Troopers Spinks and Audette at Stillwater where they were found in possession of a quantity of alcohol which it was said they had taken there to sell to men employed on the power development job.

The alcohol was found in a roadster which they were driving and the car was seized with its contents. The men were brought to Lowville where they were lodged in the county jail. This morning federal officers arrived and they were taken to Malone.

It was said here that the two men visited the camp last week and brought with them a supply of alcohol which they sold to the employes. The alcohol was said to have made several of the men violently ill, and state troopers were tipped off that they planned to return. The tip resulted in their arrest Wednesday.

MRS. T. R. RETURNS TO OYSTER BAY

On Board the Roosevelt Train, Oneonta, Oct. 23.—Just as Theodore Roosevelt's special campaign train pulled out of Delanson today after the Republican nominee for governor had made a short speech, a man in the crowd around the rear platform shouted:

"Let's see that good-looking wife."

The colonel laughed and waved his hat. The "good-looking wife" of the candidate was at that moment packing her luggage to leave for New York, whence she will go this afternoon to Oyster Bay, her home. Today was the first day of the three weeks' campaign tour that Mrs. Roosevelt was not presented to the audiences.

Mrs. Roosevelt contemplated returning a short time before the end of the stumping tour but a cold which she contracted while taking motor rides in the cold air led her to leave today.

Jeremiah T. Wood, former lieutenant governor, rejoined the Roosevelt party at Albany today.
